AGRICULTURE STUDY

Tuesday, April 1st

6:00 p.m.

Farmer Brown's Restaurant

The LWVUS position on Agriculture is in need of an update. The last time the issue was studied was the 2-year study in 1986-87 that resulted in their 1988 position. A mere 25 years ago! A lot has happened down on the farm since then. We will be holding a consensus meeting on April 1st at the Farmer Brown Restaurant at 6363 Hollansburg-Sampson Road in Arcanum. Everyone should read the background material on the LWVUS website; the link is on the left.

There is much to read and so I suggest that you read the material that appeals to you first and then any other that you might have time for. At any rate, don't miss the meeting just because you haven't had the time to read it all. We will be discussing the main points and we need all of your input. Please put aside this evening for a lively and pertinent discussion. See you there!

After filling up on Farmer Brown's famous sandwiches or his scrumptious pizzas, we'll tackle the 10 questions(that's right, there are only ten consensus questions to answer) with the answers that are needed by our national organization to arrive at a grass-roots consensus to base the updated position on which they may educate, advocate, and take action. After that, there's ICE CREAM! :) See you there!
